NASA Reading Challenge offered in December

The Stanislaus County Library is pleased to announce the NASA Reading Challenge, taking place December 1-31. This challenge is centered around the winter launch of NASA's James Webb Space Telescope, the most advanced infrared space telescope ever launched. This telescope will allow us to look deeper into time and space than ever before!

The NASA Reading Challenge, open to all ages, is an opportunity to challenge yourself to read and learn more about space exploration. This challenge features several reading and learning activities, where participants can earn badges. Participants will track their progress using the Beanstack app. However, participants may track their progress in any way that works for them, and staff will be happy to help enter their data in the Beanstack app.

For more information, please visit www.stanislauslibrary.org or contact your local branch.
